FORTUNATE GUILDHALL.

At the legit let we session of 1898 an effort was made to change the shire town of Essex county from Guildhall to Lunenburg. Guildhall was fortunate in having among her sons one Col. E. C. Benton who, though living in Mass-consetts, retained for the place of his nativity all a devoted son's interest and affection. There he maintained a summer residence and there among the hills of gallant little Essex was his heart. So he came from Boston to defend Guildhall. He put in a stort and elequent plea for the old shire town, championed its cause tefore the committee, and his appeal was effective. A beautiful baune was presented by Mrs. Wiswell, green satin, lined with white decorated with pond niles, and the words "Washington County, W. C. T. U."

Mrs. Richmond's paper "The Canteen in the Army" portrayed the fight for the protection of our soldiers from the sylls of the canteen. An exercise in physical culture was given by Miss Fisk, followed by a recitation by Miss Ethni Bates.

tafore the committee, and his appeal was effective.

Guildhall has been having gala days recently. On Tuesday the town celebrated the greatest event in its history, the dedication of the Masonic Hall, which, with a public library, has been presented to the town by this Col Ben'on.

A special car from Boston arrived in the morning, bringing the Fifth regiment band, Massachusetts militis, and several distinguished visitors from Massachusetts. Benton lodge, F. A. M., met the grand lodges of Massachusetts and New Hampshire at the bridge from the Naw Hampshire side, and they in furn met and escorted the grand lodge of Vermont to the court house headed by the American Waltham Watch Factory band, which accompanied the Massachusetts delegation. The grand lodge of Vermont assembled at the court house, to interest all connected with the education of our children slong these lines.

Resolved, That we will use all proper means to discourage the use of, and traffic in all patent medicines containing alcohol, also that the use of wines or other liquors for flavoring purposes be condemed.

Resolved, That we express our appreciation of the sermons faithfully preached by the pastors of our county, concerning prohibition and Sabbath observance, also of the admirable courage of such officers of county as have bravely carried out the prohibitory law, and to our editors who have so kindly favored us in their columns.

At norn the formal dedication of the Masonic Hall took place. More than 400 Masons participated, and it is said that never before had so large a number been assembled in the north country.

A collation was served by the ladies of Guildhall, after which public exercises were Guildhall, after which public exercises were held in the Congregational church. The speakers included Charles R. Montague, grand master of Vermont; Charles T. Gallagher, grand master of Massachusetts; Henry O. Kent of Laucaster, N. H.; the Hon. William L. Wrence of Medford, Mass.; Gen. Curtis Guild, Jr., of Boston, Mass.; the Hon. George E. Smith, ex-president of the Massachusetts Senate; the Hon. David L. Pennington, representing the grand lodge of Massachusetts; the Hon. A. Subjoined is a synopsis of the remarks of Rev. C. O. Judkins on Tuesday, on "The Modern Neglect of Home': The home is a scientific necessity and is not the place we build and name home, but the place where the child is nurtured through its period of infancy and youth into manhood. The home is the foundation institution of institutions, without it we cannot hope to advance in church or State.

No place but the ideal home containing the minutely careful parent can give the Gen. Guita in his address, touched upon Co'. Benton's personality, saying that, although Col. Benton w s doubtless held in great affection by the townspeople and his old friends and schoolmates here, the friends which he had made since starting out in his life work to Boston had quite as great an affection for him as it was possible

No place but the ideal home containing the minutely careful parent can give the child the chance he should have. He cries with his first breath, as Froebel puts, it "I breathe, therefore educate me!" From this point until manhood, constant appeals for help are made by his developments. In kicking and reaching is one of the first chances to develop the child. In his developing senses comes perhaps the second, taste, smell and hearing. Next comes the call from his ceaseless activities and then the period when he wants to take a part in the real work of life.

Soon he must be taught to relate his great an affection for him as it was possible to give any man.

After the exercises the audience spent an hour in social chat. In the evening the installation of officers at Masonic Hall took place, Most Worthy W. Scott Nay, past grand master of Vermont, officialing, and the Waltham band gave a fine concert on the grounds of the Methodist church, to which fully 2,000 persons listened.

"Is your mamma cross? Mine is awful cross! Does your mamma say 'Hush!' when you laugh or make a little bit of a noise? My mamma does,

She has nerves, papa says."

The mother who overheard this account of herself would feel heart-broken to think of the shadow cast by her misery on those she loved. Yet her condition is real. Her nerves are strained to the point of torture. Lack of appetite and loss of sleep increase her weakness.

Such a condition may, in general be traced to disease of the delicate womanly organism, a cure for which is found in the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It establishes regularity, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness. It tranquilizes the nerves, encourages the appetite and innerves, encourages the appetite and induces refreshing sleep.

The companion case of State v. John F. Kimball, an indictment for bigamy found at the June term as the first, was continued, the essential facts being the same except that the prosecution is thought to be weak in evidence as to proof of second marriage. The jury was then excused until Tuesday morning, some divorce cases being heard in the laterim. Monday, however, most of the respondents concluded that they were guilty of the effences charged against them and in the afternoon there was a general jail delivery. Next morning J. W. Adshade of Brookfield, who had appealed from a justice's judgment of guilty of drunkenness, failed to appear and his bonds were called and forfeited. He was soon after found by Deputy Sheriff Adams with a bench warrant and pleaded guilty, being sentenced to pay a fine of $10 and costs which amounted to $55 41, with the alternate of being confined 30 days in the county j il and a mittimus was issued. The jury was then discharged, two Chelsea jury men being retained.

Other respondents on pleading guilty were sentenced as follows: Henry Hodge for breach of the peace to pay a fine of $15 without costs, George Townsend, the Braintree store burglar, confinement in State's prison for not less than ten nor more than

RECREATION PLACE.

Northern New England is the summer pleasure and vacation ground for the world. No other section can boast of scores of lakes, a hundred basches, and a whole mountain range within the meagre boundaries of a hundred square miles, yet this is what New England has, and, although there are thousands of tourists annually at these resorts, there can be accommodated hundreds of thousands more.

Every nook and corner of New England is an outing resort and the Boston and Maine lines reach all of the leading ones. If you are interested in or in end to take a vacation this season, you want a Boston & Maine Excursion Book. It's free for the asking. Send a postal to General Passenger Dept. (21), B. & M. R. A SUMMER PARADISE ..

Very few people in this city are aware that around the reservoir exists a sort of summer paradise. Through the zeal and efforts of George M. Scribnet the once uninteresting tract on the southerly side of the reservoir has been converted into a delight full park. Nature has been improved rather than supplanted. Wales have been laid out over ledges, through groves and pasture land. Gardens of vegetables, intersprised with beds of flowers, a se scattered over several acres. It has been Mr. Scribner's hobby to outdo all others in raising plants and flowers. He has bad flowers in full bloom which usually are seen only toward the last of the summer season. The gardens ar laid out into beds of all forms, filled with plants in full flower. To accomplish this Mr. Scribner has transplanted plants in a large degree from his hot house in this city.

dilled with plants in full flower. To accomplish this Mr. Scribner has transplanted plants in a large degree from his hot house in this city. Some idea of the work entailed can be gained from the circumstance that day after day a large quantity of water has to be carried over this tract in order to advance the growth of the plants.

It he approach to this park via Benjamin lists extremely picturesque and exhibits he handiwork of Mr. Scribner. The pata skirts along the edge of the chasm from the reservoir down, and in many places is hewn out of the ledge with occasional steps cut for the douvenience of the traveler. Mr. Scribner has done this work at his own expense, and simply for the love of it.

Upon reaching the summit, near the reservoir, scenery seldom equalled for its beauty greets the entire line of vision. The writer is as familiar with the White Mountains as with the streets of Mourpelier, but on a visit to Mr. Scribner's park on Tuesday afternoon he was surprised beyond degree to find that within so short a distance from the city there exists a view point from which so much of beauty and interest was unfilled to the sight, even rivailing the attractions among the White Mountains or elsewhere among the Green Hills. attractions among the White Mountains or elsewhere among the Green Hills.

FIFTY-YEAR ROOFS.

How It Is Possible to Have a House Covering That Will Last Half a [Century.

The best roof that can be put on a house is one made of terme plate, commonly called by roofers and dealers "roofing tin." It is best because it is light; does not burden the structure with great weight. It is best because it is adaptable to any position or condition. It is best because it is fire proof and weather proof. It is best because it lasts a life time, when properly made and properly applied.
